

At This Moment
June 12, 2014
James Gregory Maynard

Flipping through old cartoons, with each moment drawn on a card, each card sequenced into a grand stack, then, when flipped through, one can see the depiction of action, get caught up in the movement of time, mesmerized, like watching a stream rippling over a rocky bed.

Yet, one can stop and look at each card, observe that moment, appreciate it, enjoy the uniqueness and beauty of it, - As we should life.