Gathering and Saving vs Release

“Why are you putting that in the yard sale, I might need that?”

“It has been sitting upstairs for over 5 years. What are the chances you will ever use this again?”

“Well, I don’t know, but I want to keep it, and why did you bring this down?”

“We’ll never use that again, and if we do need one, I’ll buy you one.”

“Wait a minute. You can’t put this in the yard sale. You know this is special to me.”

“Look there is not much more room up stairs for you to store these treasures. You need to clean out some of this stuff.”

“Why there is plenty of room down here.”

“No way. This is for equipment, you have your space, and there we have our space, and our space is for storing equipment.”

“Aw common, not this, you can’t be serious about putting this in the sale too!”

“Ok, but after I return all of this stuff upstairs there will be nothing left to sell, so let’s cancel the yard sale.”

“Fine with me, if you want to be that way.”
